The time limit for payments expired at midnight last night, when, according to an estimate by Mr. Bowers, $55,866,000 had been either mailed or paid in at his offices in the Custom House. Added to this amount will be cheeks or cash put in the mail before midnight estimated approximately at $22,000,000. A total of $21,164,000 was collected yesterday.

Payments for the same period last year, from December 1 to December 15, totaled $82,419,569, of which $56,856,549 was either mailed or paid in on the last day.

The office of internal revenue was jammed with last-minute taxpayers yesterday who, to avoid the 5 per cent penalty for deliquency, stood in long queues awaiting their turn for payment. The Collector increased his office force to nearly double its ordinary size to cope with the last minute rush, which, however, was said to be not nearly as large as that of last year. Not all the payments were being made in cash, as under the option forms of payment permitted, taxpayers were allowed to submit either Treasury certificates of indebtedness matured December 15 or Victory notes, whether or not they have been called for redemption.
